Schedule A, Page 2, Part II A

Public support represents the portion of total support received from the general public, government agencies, and public charities over a five-year period. The organization's public support percentage is calculated under IRC 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) by dividing qualifying public contributions by total support, excluding unusual grants.

Multi-year grants are reported in the year received, and certain large or non-recurring contributions have been reviewed and classified as unusual grants where appropriate. These exclusions ensure that the organization's public support percentage accurately reflects its normal pattern of broad public funding and remains above the threshold required for public charity status.

Public support represents the portion of total support received from the general public, government agencies, and public charities over a five-year period. The organization's public support percentage is calculated under IRC 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) by dividing qualifying public contributions by total support, excluding unusual grants.

Multi-year grants are reported in the year received, and certain large or non-recurring contributions have been reviewed and classified as unusual grants where appropriate. These exclusions ensure that the organization's public support percentage accurately reflects its normal pattern of broad public funding and remains above the threshold required for public charity status.
