

Response to EdReports.org's Evaluation of Go Math!

Go Math! is a comprehensive curriculum designed to support teachers and students throughout the entire learning process, and includes essential components for use in diverse classrooms. Many of Go Math! resources were not incorporated in EdReports.org's review process, including but not limited to digital materials and guides.

Throughout the Go Math! program, concepts are introduced to students in one lesson, with further development occurring in subsequent lessons. This approach was deliberately taken in order to achieve the depth of understanding demanded by the CCSS-M. The isolated lesson review conducted by EdReports.org does not reveal this careful development.
