

The EdGems Math team sincerely appreciates EdReports for its comprehensive and rigorous review of our middle school math program. We commend the dedicated math educators and professionals who devoted their time and expertise to producing this thorough evaluation.

This detailed analysis of the alignment between EdGems Math and the focus, rigor, and coherence of the Common Core State Standards provides valuable insight for teachers, coaches, and administrators. We are grateful for the positive results and take great pride in this recognition, as it reflects our commitment to providing high-quality, standards-aligned instructional materials. We believe this review will help educators better understand the strength of our program and the ways it can support effective math instruction in classrooms across the country.
